Independent Auditor's Report

Board of Directors and Stockholders Harvest Financial Corporation Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Harvest Financial Corporation as of December 31, 2005 and 2004 and the related statements of operations, changes in stockholders' equity and cash flows for the years then ended that you are filing pursuant to rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Harvest Financial Corporation as of December 31, 2005 and 2004 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The summary of significant accounting policies is presented to assist in understanding these financial statements. The financial statements and notes are representations of management, who is responsible for their integrity and objectivity. The accounting policies used conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and have been consistently applied in the preparation of these financial statements.

Method of Accounting. These financial statements have been prepared using the accrual method of accounting, recognizing income when earned and expenses when incurred.

Fully Disclosed Basis. The Company is associated with Mesirow Financial, Inc. (Clearing Broker), a member of the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., on a fully disclosed basis in connection with the execution and clearance of the securities transactions effected by the Company. In accordance with the Clearing Agreement, the Company is required to provide a clearing deposit in the amount of $50,000 upon which the Clearing Broker pays interest at prevailing rates.

Use of Estimates. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Accounts Receivable. The Company considers all accounts receivable to be collectible; accordingly, no allowance for doubtful accounts has been established. If accounts become uncollectible they will be charged to operations when that determination is made.

Cash Equivalents. For purposes of the statements of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Capitalization and Amortization. Improvements are recorded at acquisition cost and amortized over the estimated useful lives of the related assets using the straight-line method for financial and tax reporting.

Years Ended December 31, 2005 and 2004

B. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Income Taxes. Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus deferred taxes. Deferred taxes are recognized for operating losses and charitable contribution carryforwards that are available to offset future taxable income.

Investment. The investment is accounted for using the cost method, which is not materially different from fair value. The Company's long-term investment consists of NASDAQ stock options.

C. Concentration of Credit Risk

The Company maintains their cash in bank deposit accounts at a high quality financial institution. The balances, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. At December 31, 2005, the Company did not exceed the insured limit.

D. Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the net capital rule of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Rule 15c3-1 (Rule). Under the computation, the Company is required to maintain net capital equal to the greater of $5,000 or 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness and not to permit its aggregate indebtedness to exceed 1,500% of its net capital, as those terms are defined in the Rule. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, the Company had net capital of $53,289 and $61,140, respectively, and a net capital ratio (aggregate indebtedness divided by net capital) of 1.46 to 1 and 2.49 to 1, respectively.

Pursuant to Rule 17a-5, the Company is required to file a computation of net capital as of the audit date. Rule 17a5(d)(4) requires reporting on any material differences between the audited computation and the Company's computation. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, there were no material differences.

E. Regulatory Filings

The Statement of Financial Condition filed pursuant to Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission is available for inspection at the principal office of the Corporation and at the Washington D.C. and Regional Office of the Commission.

Years Ended December 31, 2005 and 2004

F. Pension Plan

The Company has a defined contribution 401(k) pension plan which covers all of its employees. Total pension expense amounted to $1,723 and $3,131 for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

G. Income Taxes

In accordance with the provisions of Financial Accounting Standards No. 109 (SFAS No. 109), Accounting for Income Taxes, the Company accounts for deferred taxes using the asset and liability method. The objective of the asset and liability method is to establish deferred tax assets and liabilities for the temporary differences between the financial reporting basis and the tax basis of the Company's assets and liabilities at enacted tax rates expected to be in effect when such amounts are realized or settled. The asset and liability as computed for these financial statements assumes that the current tax rates and regulations will be in effect for the year the temporary differences reverse. Accordingly, adjustments to the asset will be necessary in the future should the tax laws change.

For state income tax purposes, the Company has a net operating loss carryforward at December 31, 2005 and 2004 of approximately $44,000 and $33,000, respectively, that may be offset against future taxable income. The Company estimates that the entire amount of this net operating loss carryforward will be utilized prior to expiration in 2015. At December 31, 2005 and 2004, a deferred asset of $4,400 and $3,300, respectively, has been recognized.

In addition, at December 31, 2005 and 2004, a deferred tax asset of $2,400, has been recognized for taxable temporary differences related to a contribution carryover.

The provision for income taxes in the statements of operations consists of the following components:

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control Structure Required by SEC 17a-5

Board of Directors and Shareholders Harvest Financial Corporation Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and additional information of Harvest Financial Corporation (Company) for the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, we considered its internal control in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company, including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- 1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons;
- 2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13;
- 3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgements by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls, and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph, and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in the amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005 and 2004, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD), and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
